your future success?... ”*

“...Or informed and objective analysis?”

Cambridge Consultants is renowned for its ability to exploit new innovation opportunities and for resolving the most challenging technical and management issues facing R&D-led businesses.

We draw on a unique combination of healthcare industry and medical product knowledge, our highly developed consulting tools and a 250 strong in-house team of development engineers and scientists.

The results are durable value-creation for our clients.

We work with the world's largest companies, small start-ups, investment institutions and government agencies.

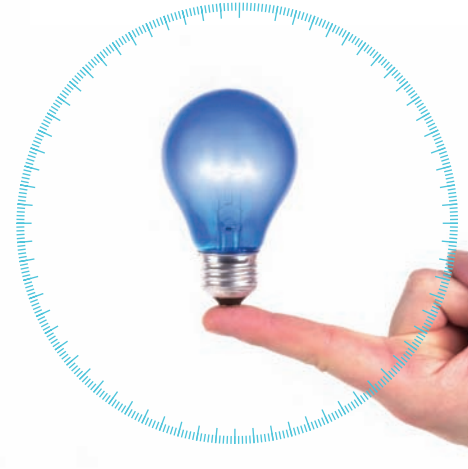

Partner

Throughout the partnering life cycle we support strategic decision-making using our partner search and selection processes - ensuring our clients gain competitive advantage through effective collaboration and in-licensing.

Innovate

Our innovation management tools and product development capabilities enable our clients to create radically innovative concepts and to build new product pipelines that lead to demonstrable sales growth.

"Creating value for competitive advantage"

Understand

We help our clients understand market dynamics, customer needs and growth opportunities, increasing the impact of new product introductions and enhancing market share.
